

How the reader will benefit from reading Passionate Pinky and the Evolutionary Experiment
By Carol Heywood-Babrauskas

- Convert fears generated by drastic change into hope based on developing an understanding of the mechanisms of evolution and being able to recognize that Earth is transitioning into a progressive phase of evolution, not coming to an end.
- Gain a broader perspective that reveals a much bigger picture of Earth's significant role in this universe - A bigger picture that encompasses wonders beyond our imagination's capacity that creates exquisitely beautiful mechanisms that translates into Earth and all of us being in very good hands! Fear gives way to Love, Peace, and Gratitude in the face of such Beauty.
- The brightly-colored energetic artwork that illustrates the journal, has enlivening qualities and will stimulate the energy field with its vibrations.
- Learn about the individual connection to the Divine that is the birthright of all.
- Be totally entertained by the great stories, whether you believe them or not.
- Learn that mythology and science are just two sides of the same coin and how even the most mystical experience can be explained by physics if you are able to get a close-enough look at the inner workings of things. The author feels that knowing this does not need to take away from the power of what is happening, nor its magic, it just makes it more accessible, which is a good thing.
- See tangible evidence of the evolutionary shifts that are taking place on Earth.
- Become awakened to the possibilities of developing meaningful relationships with beings who don't need skin.
- By learning the physics of Christ, it starts to become plausible that Christ can be your very own without needing Jesus as an intermediary.
- Learn that we each have a Christ Self – a unique individualization of Christ energy.
- Learn that your Christ Self is activated by Self Love.
- Learn how Carol balances her mythological play in the playground of the gods, with the scientific explanations of what the mythological interaction represents in regards to Earth's evolutionary path/Ascension.
- Find out where we are going next in this upward spiraling evolutionary path.
- Become inspired by Carol's courageous sharing of her intimate exchanges with her inner family that includes romance, love, and sex.
- Enjoy an irreverent and often funny glimpse at interdimensional living amidst the divine.
- Learn about the very valuable skill of being able to consider previously unknown possibilities.
- Come away with more Love than fear.